

All of Me

Polly

I will piece by piece take down your walls
And I will keep the wolf from your door
And I will take you down where my secrets are stored
And I will chase away the ghosts of lovers who came before And you will have All of me I will rise up every day that goes by
And I won't stop trying to catch the light from your eyes
And I will never leave if you just learn to love my fire
When I'm open I'll set you alight And you will have All of me In whispers I hide the things I've seen
When I give them to you
You believe
In secrets and lies
I've been buried beneath
But I give to you all of me And you will have
All of me.
