

She

Casey McQuillen

He turned to me and said, I love her
And in his eyes I saw the pain he couldn't say
He watched her walk away
But in his spot he stayed
Hoping she would love him the next day, Yeah

And he said,
He doesn't love her like I do,
He doesn't see into her truth,
He doesn't know that she sings when she's alone, oh
He doesn't know that her eyes
Seem to glow when she smiles
He doesn't see into her truth
He doesn't love her like I do

He spends his days with her
A shoulder when she cries
A smile when she smiles
Hoping all the while
That someday she will see
That they're meant to be
That they'd be so happy
The shore and the sea

And he said,
He doesn't love her like I do,
He doesn't see into her truth,
He doesn't know that she sings when she's alone, oh
He doesn't know that her eyes
Seem to glow when she smiles
He doesn't see into her truth
He doesn't love her like I do

She doesn't know I love her so
She doesn't know I watch her go
She doesn't know when she's with him
It's like I'm drowning from within
She doesn't know I love her eyes
She doesn't know I love her smile
She doesn't know I see her truth

That I love her like I do, Oh

She doesn't know
She doesn't know
She doesn't know
That I love her so

She doesn't know
She doesn't know
She doesn't know
That I love her so

He turned to me and said, I love her
