By The Throat

CHVRCHES

Bad blood and no holds barred
A warning shot, a sacrifice that we madeYou know, you know, you know, you know that you go to far
You know, you know, you know, you know that you go to farWaste of time or waste of fear?
Do it again, again until you unfocus them awayYou know, you know, you know, you know that you go to far
You know, you know, you know, you know that you go to farAll that's golden is never real
And I won't play fair with you this time
All that's golden is never sold
And I'll be thankful when you let goYou know, you know, you know, you know that you go to far
You know, you know, you know, you know that you go to farWith teeth we've come this far
I'll take this thing by the throat and walk awayYou know, you know, you know, you know that you go to far
You know, you know, you know, you know that you go to farRemember me as I will you
Honesty will wreck this point that we madeYou know, you know, you know, you know that you go to far
You know, you know, you know, you know that you go to farAll that's golden is never real
And I won't play fair with you this time
All that's golden is never sold
And I'll be thankful when you let goYou know, you know, you know, you know that you go to far
You know, you know, you know, you know that you go to farTaking over parts of mine
That I will pay for every timeIf I could catch you and cut your ties
I would leave you, every timeAll that's golden is never real
And I won't play fair with you this time
All that's golden is never sold
And I'll be thankful when you let goYou know, you know, you know, you know that you go to far
You know, you know, you know, you know that you go to far

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/