Panic The Digital [2001 version]

Tub Ring

when the world abandons all philosophy, a public who abhors mediocrity finds itself the cure.
when it awoke we hailed it a miracle, avoidance which is next to impossible, a sermon for the pure.
here come the rats the rats are gonna find us with the second black plague and the hanta disease.
here come the rats the rats are gonna find us and the first contamination is the food we eat, so can we scare ourselves, to the brink of death?
panic panic
panic panic the digital
panic panic
panic panic
while information leaked to the media, who did its part to fuel the hysteria fear becomes the truth. and though the race continues to propagate the midday news does nothing implicate safety is removed this is my cancer from my cellular phone that emits radiation that destroys my brain, this is the cancer from my television screen which reports the danger while it does the same.
can we free ourselves, from the threat of death?
panic panic
panic panic the digital
panic panic
panic panic
go in peace today, listen in peace today
can we scare ourselves to the brink of death?
