Bigger Than Me

Bell X1

There is a darkness to these jaded days
Maybe it's a seasonal affected disorder
Or maybe we're just sadThere is photosynthesis
We crane our necks for sunlight
There's a different sun for everyoneAnd it's bigger than me
Yeah it's bigger than me
So much more to eat
To be bigger than meThere is a vacuum
There are boys with toys
These toys of coldness
And a smart aresThere is a cuckoo
Who's been and lain in my nest
And the egg is hatching
And Christ I'll never be able to feed it'Cos it's bigger than me
Yeah, it's bigger than me
There's so much more to eat
To be bigger than me
Oh yeahI should welcome all
Both fallow and fertile
I should welcome all
Both circumcised and gentileBut I can be so
So elsewhere
And I can be so
So coldAnd there is a world so full of people
Full of love and shrapnel
Full of bag ladies and bag ladies
And wicker menAnd it's bigger than me
Yeah, it's bigger than me
Still so much more to eat
To be bigger than meYeah, it's bigger than me
And it's bigger than you
And it's bigger than me
And it's bigger than youAm I a stone?
Am I a sponge?
Am I a stone?
Am I a sponge?
