My Broken Bones

St-Eugene

I could get lost in the depth of this room
I could make sure the door is locked
I want to believe this place could heal my broken bones
My broken bones

I could make sure weâ€™d never have to leave
I could make sure it would make us feel again
I want to believe this place could heal my broken bones
My broken bones

There is a haunting wind
That chills me to the bones
There is a haunting wind
That chills me to the bones

I know thereâ€™s still time to make up my mind
This could be our birth
And this could be my grave
But I want to believe this place could heal my broken bones
My broken bones

There is a haunting wind
That chills me to the bones
There is a haunting wind
That chills me to the bones
