No Regrets

Jennifer Knapp

Should I be bold enough to speak in this moment?
A reverent heart must surely be unbrokenWith no regrets should I be, lost in forgetfulness
With not regrets in my head, faithfully shedShould I be rich, or poor and scattered in my dreams?
While all the figures that surround me, live unguardedWith no regrets should I be, lost in forgetfulness
With not regrets in my head, faithfully shedAnd free from the worry, free from the dark that lives in me
Free to embark on the passion, you've favorable fashioned in meWith no regrets should I be, lost in forgetfulness
With not regrets in my head, faithfully shed
