

How Do You Feel the Morning After

Millie Jackson

Uh huh, oooh, oooh, oooh.
You've given me things that meant a lot,
A love I could endure.
You've given me a home, a family,
Made me feel secure.
Yet all that you give,
There's a question that needs an answer:
How can you give your love to another.

Come home and face me the morning after. How do you feel (How do you feel) the morning after
(How do you feel)

After you've given your love to someone new.
Tell me now.

How do you feel (How do you feel) the morning after.
(How do you feel)

I laid here all night long waiting on you. Oh Lord. I know, I know, I know you must be dying inside
If you tell me you'd be confessing
So you can't apologize.
Oooh, oooh, oooh, it hurts me so
To know that I'm the one to suffer.
To know that I must be second best

When the best has gone to another. Oh Lord. How do you feel (How do you feel) the morning after
(How do you feel)

After you've given your love to someone new.
Tell me now.

How do you feel (How do you feel) the morning after
(How do you feel)

After I laid here all night long waiting on you. Oh Lord.
