West

Menomena

Come out West and see Best that could be And all you want stay permanently Come out West and seeNow climb up on a rock And stretch out in the sun And close my eyes and let Imagination runAnd tracing your initials In the shining sand I'm counting out the days Till I see you againWho knows what the future holds Or where the corns may fall But if you don't come out West and see You'll never know at allI look off in the distance Blow a kiss away A thousand miles between us Disappears from there I watch as all the starlings Flying from the north The beating of their wings There goes the beating of my heartI sleep out in the desert Under the stars above And keep making an effort To wonder in your loveWho knows what the future holds Or where the corns may fall But if you don't come out West and see You'll never know at allCome out West and see The best that it could be And all you want stay permanently Come out West and see
