

Twin Flames (live)

Epica

Your eternal my love.
For me your all there ever was.
Every limit overcome.
As we are tangled we are one. Words are left unsaid, burning in my head.
Now I only wish I could hold you again.
Being there with you, I feel at ease.
Being there with you is all I ever need,
My one believe, we share a common energy.
I've flown a far beyond the sea,
To find the other side of me.
I've waited long and patiently,
To find the one to balance me.
To live without,
This is my common entity. Life feels empty my love,
It pains me so to give you away.
Sentence untold never to unfold.
Now I only wish I could hold you again.
Being there with you I am whole again.
Being there with you is all I ever need,
My one believe, we share a common energy.
I've flown a far beyond the sea,
To find the other side of me.
I've waited long and patiently,
To find the one to balance me.
To live without this is my common entity
My one believe. You're all I need, my one believe.
The winds of time will carry me.
To live without
Don't let this out.
