

Anymore

Smalltown Poets

Covered it up with a question mark
Covered it with a crowd
Keeping myself among the proud
I don't believe anyone could love Anyone less if they tried
I smiled at you and died inside, inside
I heard the voice I knew
Covered it over with thoughts of you and I'llNever keep it silent anymore
Silent anymore, anymore
Silently think of a prayer for me
Voice it inside your headMaybe I need to hear it said
Sometimes the word condemns the thought
So they're held a lot
Silence is golden when I'm not, I'm notWhether it's God or it's you
I need to speak and be spoken to
I can't stand this silence anymore
Silence anymore, anymoreI can't stand it anymore, silence anymore
No not anymore, anymore
