

Love Is the Hardest

Beth Hart

Coffee on the floor, listen to the water boil
Screaming on the phone, trying to make somebody call
Jumping of the roof, maybe I'll survive again
Staring at the sun, waiting for the world to end Oh. love is the hardest

Oh. love is a mess

I know it's all my fault

I just don't love anymore

Anymore

Devil's on the porch, drinking with the radio

Angel at the door, I don't let her in no more

If I had a chance, maybe I'd forgive myself

If I had a heart, I'd give it to somebody else Oh. love is the hardest

Oh. love is a mess

I know it's all my fault

I just don't love anymore

Anymore I could say I'm sorry

but my heart don't feel a thing

Love's an ugly story

It's the hardest thing

It's the hardest thing

Oh. love is the hardest

Oh. love is a mess

I know it's all my fault

This is all my fault

I don't love anymore

Can't give anymore

I don't have it anymore Love is the hardest

Love is the hardest part
