I Only Regret the Summer

Paddock Park

A familiar face is all it takes
I'm not ready to forgive and I will never forget what you said
We're only running from ourselves
Awkward glances
I'm not one to say I'm wrong, you turned your back,
I proved them wrong, you walked away from everything
Long Drives and cold nights
Holding on to old times
Giving up on you love
Waiting on apologies that will never come
That will never come
