

The Great Divide

Finch

The sky divides a brilliant widened offering
So tonight I sink the tide and close my eyes
Can you hear it? It's calling me. It's an absolution, burning in my hand
They'll let you down my friend
It's arrowing, I am the mountain
Staring at the bow
Blood in his eyes again Save your skin the suffering
And hold your hope
The blood beware they're crying out
I know the sound
But don't you fear it Fall in line, up against the wall
Not this time, I'm not listening anymore
Now you know, the animal, is inside us all
But you don't have to crawl

Songwriters

Alex Linares, Alex Pappas, Derek Doherty, Drew Marcogliese, Marc Allen, Nate Barcalow, Randy Strohmeyer Published by

Lyrics © Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>