So Far Away

Justin Wells

I could have spent my whole life in her arms

Given in to the spell of her charms

Life on her beach

All I wanted in reach

But I threw it away

You know it was not so bad on that isle

With a goddess whose happiness would hinge on my smile

By the split cedar fire

In her endless desire

No, it wasn't bad at all

But "Oh, no," I said "I just cannot stay"

And I'd cry on the beach pining away

For my home in Ithaca

My wife and my son

And I built a raft and sailed away

(chorus)Now this wine dark sea

Tastes pretty salty to me

I have swum for too far and too long

Oh Calypso Tell me how could I know

That going home was my own siren song

Â Well the man of many turns has hit a turn for the worst

Though I've seen storms like this one

I fear that this time I'm cursed

'Cause the god of the sea

Wants revenge,Â he has found me

And I am sinking

(chorus)

She told me if I stayed by her side

She'd hold me and I'd never die

And as the waves crash around me

I feel a taste of mortality

I should have seen her

With more than one eye

Lyrics Submitted by Nader Foyoozat

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/