

The Homecoming

Coheed and Cambria

We are a living absolute
Stuck in an anguished innocence
This moment loved
I greet the sun
And wake from a war i could have won
Well in your arms I'll keep this memory to me
This kitchen floor won't reveal all the things I felt for you

Please level with me
Understand, I'd do anything for you
Seize any moment while you can
This void's coming after you
Cause loneliness is why you hurt
Just don't kill the messenger

The dust a-dance against my breath
The world awaken slowly dressed
A life unanswered in the light
With questions scattered in the night

And now my heart feels heavy
The weight will drag me down
You were the only reason
They'd find me here tonight

Please level with me
Understand, I'd do anything for you
Seize any moment while you can
This void's coming after you
Cause loneliness is why you hurt
Just don't kill the messenger
