

Distant Places of the Heart

Jack Bruce & Robin Trower

Gaints endless fields of grey and blue
The angry sky is pressed
Moon and stars go sliding though
As day the night undressed
Arms reach out to gather in
A deep and timeless ache
Tumbling down she falls to him
And knows she will not break
I drift into the distant warm but hopeless past
Drift into the distant places of the heart
I saw you then
I see you now
A lifetime in one kiss
Light and heat their colours throw
Around you sweet caress
Echoes like play unwind
Shadows full of dust
I look for hope but only find
The shards of broken trust
I drift into the distant warm but hopeless past
Drift into the distant places of the heart
Echoes like play unwind
Shadows full of dust
I look for hope but only find
The shards of broken trust
I drift into the distant warm but hopeless past
Drift into the distant places of the heart
