No Secrets

The Angels

Amanda the actress waits at the station she's drifting with nothing to do with dilettante steps she's quick to accept the weather and times turning screw she lives in a tower with defences she learned from her mother and friends she walks like a pharaoh, dresses in day-glo when she's in pain she pretends...

That late in the night when the lights are all out then she slips off her stockings and shoes she makes you her lover and lets you discover the smiles she keeps, she keeps for you

She keeps no, she keeps no she keeps no secrets from you

Facing the morning, wearing her shadow she throws her dice and I-ching success in Japan, a rescuing man knows she won't change anything `Cause late in the night when the lights are all out then she slips off her stockings and shoes

Can you please tell me what the time is?
