Right Here, With You

David Cook

Everyone was watching you
As everything just slipped away
All they ever wanted was the light you gave them
You've always been the sweetest song
And even when the world went wrong
You never let the sun go down and fall to pieces
I could never walk away from you here
If the sun stops burning and the world stops turning
I'll be right here with you
And if the sky keeps falling, and the night keeps calling
I'll be right here with you
I'm on your side
I could see the way you hide
All the things you keep inside
But all you ever wanted was the light to save you
We could run away somehow
Take the night and tear it down
Never let the sun burn out and fall to pieces

Nothing's gonna stop us now cause we were born to live forever
If the sun stops burning and the world stops turning
I'll be right here with you
And if the sky keeps falling, and the night keeps calling
I'll be right here with you
I'm on your side
The tides will always change
The waves will always break
And i will be here waiting all through time
Forever by your side
Our love will never die
And if the sun stops burning and the world stops turning
I'll be right here with you
And if the sky keeps falling, and the night keeps calling
I'll be right here with you, i'll be right here with you
I'm on your side
I'm on your side

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/