No Pressure

Ages and Ages

The day I left
My past behind me at the gate
I ended up
In such an unfamiliar placeAnd what I saw of the mess they made
So many lines, not a word to say
I couldn't turn it off, so I had to turn awayI never wanted
That jilted version of the truth
And everything they fought for
They wanted me to fight for tooSo here's what I said to the ones I faced
If you're coming in, there's a price to pay
So you can take it up, but you can't take it awayI see the whites of their eyes through the cracks of my
Fence and I wonder how long it'll take
For them to gather up whatever nerve they got
We'll be the wall they hit, lay them to waistI see the whites of their eyes through the cracks of my
Fence and I wonder how long it'll take
For them to gather up whatever nerve they got
We'll be the wall they hit, lay them to waist
