

If You Think I Love You Now (I've Just Started)

Jody Miller

It's nothing new for a woman to love her man
It's an old familiar story that we both understand
And I've been loving you a long long time
So I'll make you a promise and I won't change my mind
And you'll never be alone you'll never be broken hearted
If you think I love you now I've just started Too many times people break each other's heart
By making vows that so quickly fall apart
So as long as you keep me right by your side
I'll be your woman your lover and I'll keep you satisfied
And you'll never be alone and never be broken hearted
If you think I love you now if you think I love you now I've just started

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>