Not Another Love Song

Kate Alexa

I'm not gonna tell you everything is great with you and I I dont wanna think that life is perfect all the timeyou know you try my patience I know I do the same but you are the one who's guilty and I am the one to blamewhy pretend that everything is wonderful why do that at allit's not another love song that I will sing for you so dont expect to hear the words we both know are untrue it's not another love song not the same old lies where everything's a fantasy that always turns all rightI dont take it personally when I say I ned some space I know that I drive you crazy sametimes but what can I sayI never mean to hurt you I know at times I do there's no way around the ups and downs that every ne goes throughwhy pretend no one said it would be easy so why pretend at allit's not another love song
it's not another love song
not the same old lies
that always turns all rightI dont know how to fake it sometimes, sometimes the good sometimes the bed and I know there's nothing perfect but I know your it in the endhey hey you know it's notit's not another love song
it's not another love song

that always turns all rightit's not another love song
it's not another love song
not the same old lies
it's not another love song
that always turns all right
