

Revengeful Kiss

Dying to Know

empty bottles silver spoons and razorblades, super models, i've become alone to everything. an opened window, let your light shine through to me..

standing still, walking through, my own disease its almost real, you always were the one for me, love has lost its place indeed, i've sinned again, so will you please forgive me not i cannot see, the pain i've caused in all the things, that mean so much to me...

chorus:

with all the words that i can say, i want to take your pain away, and in this whole that we both lay, its all the same, its all the same, with all the words that i can say, i want to take your pain away, and in this whole that we both lay, its all the same, its all the same its all the same..

tired, laughter, fall asleep to the sound of rain. loving, murder, contious sees through the eyes of pain. insults bruises, everything in life i've paid for

standing still, walking through, my own disease its almost real, you always were the one for me, love has lost its
place indeed, i've sinned again, so will you please forgive me not i cannot see, the pain i've caused in all the things, that mean so much to me...

[chorus]

Lyrics submitted by Tricia.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>