

Without You

Rotation

So where are we supposed to be right now?
Wide awake, we fall asleep somehow
Dreaming that we're floating on an ocean far away
Never calling back to say

And I could fade away into nothing
Nothing at all

So where are we supposed to be right now?
Both out of line, and all out of time somehow
Dreaming that we're floating on an ocean far away
Never calling back to say- Goodbye
Never calling back to say

And I could fade away into nothing
Nothing at all

The night is falling, the angels calling
They can't console me, they can't control me

So where are we supposed to be? taking the fall, and risking it all to see

I've been drowning without you.
