

The Spell

Grave Digger

Love made a fool of me, I am betrayed by love
I let her in my secrets, my heart
I still fall for her beauty and the smell of her skin
She gave a meaning to everything There in the woods she taught me how to touch a girl
I taught her to enchant any person in the world I feel my end is near, I think I have to die
I pay a high price feeling lust between her thighs
I feel my end is near, I thought I knew her well
How could I ever be cast under my own spell And now my bride is gone, she finally sealed my fate
I love her more than life and this is what she takes
A man with a broken heart, lost the reason to live
Lost in despair with nothing left to give There in the woods she taught me how to touch a girl
I taught her to enchant any person in the world I feel my end is near, I think I have to die
I pay a high price feeling lust between her thighs
I feel my end is near, I thought I knew her well
How could I ever be cast under my own spell I feel my end is near, I think I have to die
I pay a high price feeling lust between her thighs
I feel my end is near, I thought I knew her well
How could I ever be cast under my own spell

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>