The Coldest Heart (Revisited)

The Classic Crime

A couple of years and I'm a silhouette
My halo is broken now and I'm all that's left
I hate to disappoint but it's the way things went
I was bound to the things I did and after what was saidTie up these loose ends
These voices are calling me out
I've got the solution
You can feed me to something
That is leaving this doubtWhoa, I'm losing hope
There's a hole in my heart
That's been cut out of stoneWhoa, cold comes cold goes
Could you fill this hole?
'Cause I can't do it aloneA couple of tears and I'm a broken mess
The sadness has taken me far too deep in regret
So sing me a song about something good
My heart's on the thrashing floor
And I've done every single thing I couldI use to believe in some kind of feelin'
That could change everything I thought I knew
But that door is closed and
My heart feels like it's frozen
If you hear me I can feel youWhoa, I'm losing hope
There's a hole in my heart
That's been cut out of stoneWhoa, cold comes cold goes
Could you fill this hole?
'Cause I can't do it aloneThe coldest heart can be brought to life
When it's thrown into the fire of goodbyes
The coldest heart can be brought to life
When it's thrown into the fire of goodbyesThe coldest heart can be brought to life
When it's thrown into the fire of goodbyes
The coldest heart can be brought to life
When it's thrown into the fire of goodbyesWhoa, I'm losing hope
There's a hole in my heart
That's been cut out of stoneWhoa, cold comes cold goes
Could you fill this hole?
'Cause I can't do it aloneWhoa, I'm losing hope
There's a hole in my heart
That's been cut out of stoneWhoa, cold comes cold goes
Could you fill this hole?
'Cause I can't do it aloneI've got the coldest heart ('Cause I can't do it alone)

I've got the coldest heart
I've got the coldest heart
I've got the coldest heart

Songwriters
MATTHEW MACDONALDPublished by Lyrics Â© THE BICYCLE MUSIC COMPANY

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/