

Prologue

Sunroof

The smile on her face hides a secret
Her heart's at the end of the road
The scars on her wrists tell the story of a girl
Who believed all the lies she was told
They laugh as she walks through the hallway
They tear at what's left of her heart
She holds back the tears as she goes on her way
And accepts that she's fallen apart
I'm on the very edge, losing in this fight
I'm second guessing if you'd miss me
If I disappeared tonight
Oh, let me breathe again
Don't tell me you're sorry
Don't need your apologies cause you're not the one to blame
I don't need your sympathy
I just need a reason to open my eyes another day
He hasn't been sleeping for days now
His family's fallen apart
He doesn't know that it's not his fault
Cause they blamed it on him from the start
He just wants the pain to be over
His trembling hand holds a gun
He wonders who'd care if he ended it all
Would his father even miss his own son?
I'm on the very edge, losing in this fight
I'm second guessing if you'd miss me
If I disappeared tonight
Oh, let me breathe again
Don't tell me you're sorry
Don't need your apologies cause you're not the one to blame
I don't need your sympathy
I just need a reason to open my eyes another day
Give something more than air to survive
A reason to keep my hope alive
To somehow make it through
And I'll find my way again
Don't tell me you're sorry
Don't need your apologies cause you're not the one to blame
I don't need your sympathy
I just need a reason to open my eyes another day
