

Tonight (Young Hearts)

The Colourist

With a handful of courage, I don't mean to impose (oh oh I feel it now)
And faintly I whisper a secret you know (oh oh I hear it now)
Well I caught your love but I didn't catch your name (oh yeah and I feel the same)
And I'm wondering why, is it wrong if it's right 'Cause I don't wanna say goodnight, when we just started a fire
We're burning bright by the hour (in the moment, can you show it)
Young hearts never want the night to end Chasing the clock, will I see you again? (oh oh we'll see tonight)
If it's perfect now, let's be perfect again (oh oh I think it might)
I'm not used to this feeling, but you help me let go (oh yeah and you do the same)
And we both can't deny, young hearts never die 'Cause I don't wanna say goodnight, when we just started a fire
We're burning bright by the hour (in the moment, can you show it)
Young hearts never want the night to end
Tonight, if only words could describe
The feeling for the first time (I can feel that it's real right now)
Young hearts never want the night to end 'Cause something tells me we
Are more than just silhouettes
It's something that I won't forget, forget
And if I could stop the clock with you, I knew, I knew 'Cause I don't wanna say goodnight, when we just started a fire
We're burning bright by the hour
Young hearts never want the night to end
Tonight, if only words could describe
The feeling for the first time (I can feel that it's real right now)
Young hearts never want the night to end Chasing the clock, chasing the clock
Will I see you, see you again?
Chasing the clock, chasing the clock
Will I see you, see you again?

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>