

Yesterday (feat. Trey Songz) [Bonus Track]

Toni Braxton

I gave you the benefit of the doubt
'Til you showed me what you were about
Your true colors came out, ohAnd your words couldn't hide the sin
'Cause the truth about where you've been
Is in a fragrance I can't recognizeJust standing there, scratching your head
Bloodshot eyes, drunk with regret
Hanging yourself ten feet over the edgeI'm done with this, feeling like an idiot
Loving you, I'm over it
I just don't love you, don't love you no moreYou, you are so yesterday
Never thought you'd lose my love this way
Now you come beggin' me to staySee you, you are so yesterday
I won't let you rain on my parade
I don't wanna hear a thing you say
You're so yesterdayBaby, what you're saying to me is There's no more you and I
I couldn't get it right on yesterday
So kiss our tomorrows goodbyeBaby, love should brought me home
Should've just been a man about it
But now I'm crying like a baby
Girl, your love was like my blanket
Don't know what to do without itI'm standing here, pleading my case
You don't care to hear what I say
Hanging yourself ten feet over the edgeMy promises don't mean nothing
The end is so disgusting
I just don't love you, don't love you no moreYou, you are so yesterday
Never thought you'd lose my love this way
Now you come beggin' me to stayHoney, you, you are so yesterday
I won't let you rain on my parade
I don't wanna hear a thing you say, so yesterdayAnd now you wanna reminisce
Say you wanna try again
It started with a little kiss
But we can't even be friendsNo, no, now I never wanna see you
Never wanna feel you, never wanna hear you
I don't love you, don't need you
Can't stand you no moreYou, you are so yesterday
Never thought you'd lose my love this way
Now you come begging me to stayYou, you are so yesterday
I won't let you rain on my parade
Don't wanna hear a thing you saySo yesterday, so yesterday

So yesterday, so yesterday

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>