She Leaves Free

Ol' Paint

You say that our two worlds have slowly come apart
So you leave to find another and to get a better start
You haven't given me a chance but I guess it's only fate
That keeps me clinging to your love now though I know that it's too late

And I guess I'll never know how we ever came to be
And I guess we're always looking but we very seldom see

You told me at the start that above all you were free
And if life has any meaning that's the only way to be

Lyrics submitted by Philip.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/