

Stephen

Senses Fail

Goodbye, goodbye, goodbye November 10th, a cold dark night
Oh, you could feel that something wasn't right
That night many hearts did cry
When we learned we had to say goodbye All embraced under one common song
The body is dead but life lives on Goodbye Steven, goodbye you friend
You were so young, you were so young
Goodbye Steven, goodbye you friend
You were so, so young The cars lined the streets, as it was coming to an end
The sun shined so brightly, the day we buried our friend All embraced under one common song
The body is dead but life lives on Goodbye Steven, goodbye you friend
You were so young, you were so young
Goodbye Steven, goodbye you friend
You were so young, you were so young Losing in the fall, lost innocence came down
An 18 year old boy was buried in the ground
A family's broken hearts, a friend's streaming tears
The light lost in death, the living's growing fears Of eternal darkness or spiritual light
To come with terms with death on the darkest night
A brother lost a brother, a friend lost a friend
A mother lost a son but Steven's soul will never end, never end A brother lost a brother, a friend lost a friend
A mother lost a son but Steven's soul will never end
A brother lost a brother, a friend lost a friend
A mother lost a son but Steven's soul will never end
A brother lost a brother, a friend lost a friend
A mother lost a son but Steven's soul will never end [Incomprehensible]
When the others say goodbye

Songwriters

Mike Glita; James Buddy Nielsen; Dan Trapp; David Michael Miller; Garrett Zablocki
Published by SENSES FAIL INC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>