

Shallow Water (feat. Dave Peters)

Demon Hunter

Remember the threat from which it was said
"You will reap every seed that you sow"
And the tomb where you lay is the bed that you made
Be still in the pain that you wrote
See now, every scar is a choice you make Every choice is a vow you take
Take pity upon your fate, you cowardSleepwalk through heaven's call, no forest for the trees
Unlearn every step you take, it'll bring you to your knees
TreadShallow water
Safe from the weight, the burden of sacrifice
Sons and daughters, pray for the rain
May it redeem their eyesAnd now we have seen what complacency brings
As the blind are assuming the lead
Dig deep in the hole where you buried your soul,
In the river from where it bleeds
