Pack my bag i gotta leave once more
Going on town
To make my family to feel secure
And my (question?)
I take a look to my window outside the door
saying bye to my children And my (...?)
In our mind because he got to go someplace the family dont really know and to define a better way to show stand away to stop your tears from fall I'm knowing that i got to go
I wish my family could really know hoping that they understand this is hope i'd have a bigger planknowing what good not come easy so we keep tail and time keep tailing away some situation it not please me we are fi keep working and working and say that they keep moving while they're sleeping my object is at place so i have to obey an no matter what they say, ive got my part to play every buck i wont stay
In our mind because he got to go
someplace the family dont really know
and to define a better way to show
stand away to stop your tears from fall
this is hope i'd have a bigger planHere i am i came from place to place i wish i could be there to wipe those tears outta your face from continent to continent this work is eminent One can teach and than this love just cant replace Sometimes its hard when you're on your own The kids need a father and hes not at home You know i am there and going away and then you wont be aloneIn our mind because he got to go someplace the family dont really know

and to define a better way to show
stand away to stop your tears from fall
this is hope i'd have a bigger planIn our mind because he got to go someplace the family dont really know
and to define a better way to show
stand away to stop your tears from fall
this is hope i'd have a bigger planPack my bag i gotta leave once more Going on town
To make my family to feel secure
And my (question?)
outside the door
saying bye to my children
And my (...?)
