Sympathy

The Suicide Machines

one track minded you bad habits are killing you reaching out cause you need a friend keep coming up with the same old problemsyou keep running into the same old walls you want to climb over but you're scared you'll fall you're reaching out cause you need a friend but next time i see you will it happen againi'm out of sympathy i already know your promises are empty gonna try to help you find your way gonna try again to make you change i don't know why itry cause it's the same old story everytime and now it's clear to me what you really areso quick to point the finger for the mistakes you made you think you've got the answers the only thing you've got are problemsyou keep telling me you've got nothing to lose maybe that's because you just lost it all you want to tell me different but that's something that i've heard beforei'm out of sympathy
i already know your promises are empty
gonna try to help you find your way
gonna try again to make you change i don't knwo why i try cause it's the same old story everytime and now it's clear to me what you really are hey!

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/