

Through Your Eyes

Lunik

Standing in front of my mirror
And everything seems to be wrong
All I see is a pale, ugly woman
Too tired to do anything against it You turn up and lead me back on my way
Because I went astray
You just treat me like a princess
And I start to feel like it If I could see me through your eyes
If I could touch me with your hands If I could smell me with your nose
What would I be like?
