

Space Cadet Promenade [A Reach for Embrace]

Echo Orbiter

Honey sweet sleep drives hopeless boy through obsession
Declaration ache from kissing goodbye they are finding
The evening closing in between their shadows

Fools rushed into death
Lives laid down to rest
Without much living
They could call accomplished

Some unfamiliar, wonderful warmth draws her eyes closed
With a soft, homesick touch, she receives innocent intrigue
Comfort and love is the God in which she believes

Alas the sound is heard
A symphony of voices learned
Momentary calls of truth
Far from the slightest breath of wind

Emaciated false disgrace
She absorbs the evening haze
Oh God can you hear her plead to Live but once again as once before

Another hour spent in here clearing dust from some faint memory
Offer up a passage plagiarized from existential works prescribed for naivety

Another year spent in here
She doesn't have the time to be herself
She knows what it takes letting go being left here alone smiling

From this moment on the urge to know will grow stronger
As I wonder what's become of you my love
From this moment on the urge to know will grow stronger
As I wonder what's become of you my life

---

Lyrics submitted by Cab.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>