

Fallen

Bret Michaels

Wasted days and wasted nights, I feel lonely
I walk these streets and wonder why I ever listened to them say
    You are not the one for me but they were wrong
They don't see the things I seeWhen everyone turns to go, I won't leave you
    When everything new gets old, I won't listen
    When everyone says, I'll be better alone
I say this heart has a mind of it's ownWhen I see you across the room, time stands still
    Every time I undress you, my heart starts to fall
    In my arms lay with me a little while
Let the world just fade away, you and meWhen everyone turns to go, I won't leave you
    When everything new gets old, I won't listen
    When everyone says, I'll be better alone
I say this heart has a mind of it's ownLet the world come crashing down, you can smile
    'Cause you know that I won't let you down
Let me be the only sound, you can hearFall in my arms and lay with me a little while
Let the world just fade away, you and meWhen everyone turns to go, I won't leave you
    When everything new gets old, I won't listen
    When everyone says, I'll be better alone
I say this heart has a mind of it's ownWhen everyone turns to go, I won't leave you
    When everything new gets old, I won't listen
    When everyone says, I'll be better alone
    I say this heart has a mind of it's own

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>