

Sinatra

Joy Crookes

I stayed too long
I should have heard the sirens
I blame it on
Temptation in my system
Casino eyes and golden hands,
You grip my waist
Won't let me go
Singing words that make me stay Sinatra charm
A silver tongue
The devil had the blue sea
Cradled on his arm
Those sweeter days
Don't taste the same
I never learnt to walk away
Say you don't love me anymore
My feet don't move when
I'm halfway out the door
Say you don't love me anymore
Addicted you're my only cure And the rain keeps falling to your sound
And all I wanna do is say now... Babe, take the honey back
I'm more than any Friday shag
Used to talk so differently
Daily dose, my remedy Got me out here smoking more,
Your influence
Round of applause
Losing more than I have won "Baby babe" you should know that aint my name
Only listening to problems if your odds are getting laid
"Baby babe" all the shit you say's the same
Just a secondhand serenade... Say you don't love me anymore
My feet don't move when
I'm halfway out the door
Say you don't love me anymore
Addicted you're my only cure And the rain keeps falling to your sound
And all I wanna do is say now... And the rain keeps falling to your sound
And all I wanna do is say now...

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>