Solace

Spetsnaz

A stalemate between feelings and reason
A moment without thoughts or words
A world reborn yet another season
Calm waters reflect my soulBut somewhere in the dark someone's whispering my name
A relentless reminder of guilt and shamePoking, probing with persistenceThe sea is awake and alive with truth
The waves wash away my past
Glory days of innocence and youth
They've all been fading fastAnd somewhere in the dark someone's whispering my name
A relentless reminder of guilt and shamePoking, probing with persistenceWith every tide my spirit's revived
Secrets hidden and lost
The surface lies still with wild streams below
And through my veins the rivers flowTime has come to face the truth
The moment is here at last
Glory days of innocence and youth
They've all been fading fast

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/