

El Niño

Jethro Tull

As one, wet merchants turn their eyes towards the west
Trade winds falter as if in dire consequence
Freezing fish to fry fail to materialize
Christ-child, blood-warm current sends to touch the skiesEl ninoBathing in uncertainty, another age seems to wing from T.V. screens in weather rage Savage retribution makes for a headline feast
Planet-warming, opinion-forming headless beastEl ninoCold thrust tongue extends its dark and watery touch Forces gather, martial stand against the rush
Wily child in mischief here to make his play
Leaves toys for little sister on another dayEl nino
