

Believe in Me

Decyfer Down

Started out innocent,
Another day, another new temptation,
So you got a little lost along the way
You were so delicate,
In a world distorting vision,
I can see your blue eyes turn to greyDark days end, cold nights end,
You alone put yourself on trial,
Hold onto me for a whileI'll carry you over,
And pull you from under,
The broken glass, the shattered dreams,
It's not so hard, believe in me
I'll help you get over,
And pull you from under,
The memories of the shattered dreams,
I wish you could believe in me...You started out confident,
In a world with indecision,
You lost a sense of pride along the way
I can still see in you,
What you just can't see in yourself,
Underneath there's a light still shining throughI'll carry you over,
And pull you from under,
The broken glass, the shattered dreams,
It's not so hard, believe in me
I'll help you get over,
And pull you from under,
The memories of the shattered dreams,
I wish you could believe in me...Standing here, all alone,
Watching your tail lights fade away,
Trying to find the writing on the road
I'll be here, holding on,
Stuck in the silent self today,
Until you're back where you belongDark days end, cold nights end,
You alone put yourself on trial,
Hold onto me for a whileI'll carry you over,
And pull you from under,
The broken glass, the shattered dreams,
It's not so hard, believe in me
I'll help you get over,
And pull you from under,

The memories of the shattered dreams,
I wish you could believe in me...Standing here, all alone,
Watching your tail lights fade away...

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>