Thoughtless Innuendos

Kevin Martin and the Hiwatts

Another year has gone
Left falling away
If time were done
Then who should we blame?
From where I stand, you should be alone
Now that she has gone
Left falling away
A simple lesson learned
I've been cast away
If we could save ourselves
And breathe in deeper still
To pick it up from where we fell and carry it over

[Chorus]
Over today
I've got to Break these restraints
Why don't you
Say it again
I don't know
With your thoughtless innuendos

Another year has gone
Left falling away
Why is your sun
Still soaking in rain
Have you grown used to these tears that I've known
Now that she is gone
Leaves falling like rain
Did you ever find you were just a stowaway
If we could save ourselves
And breathe in deeper still
To pick up from where we fell and carry it over

[Chorus]

Carry it over today, I've got to break these restraints

[Chorus]

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by MARTIN, KEVIN COLIN Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/