Lipstick

Dan + Shay

It's just another friday, staring at herself in the bathroom mirror
It's just another deep breath, half an hour and he'll be here
It's just another friend of a friend, no it ain't nothing, it's only just a drink or two It'll be alrightShe's putting on her lipstick, turning up the music slipping on a black dress, saying you can do this Climbing in the front seat, looking out the window
going through the motions, trying just to let go
All the tears that she cried and the sad of goodbye
Tonight it ain't gonna show
And even though that she knows that it ain't not gonna fix it
She's putting on her lipstickSitting at a red light, staring at herself in the side view mirror
He says she's beautiful, like he knows what she wants to hear
So she plays right along as the night goes on It'll only be a drink or twoShe's putting on her lipstick, turning up the music
slipping on a black dress, saying you can do this Climbing in the front seat, looking out the window
going through the motions, trying just to let go
All the tears that she cried and the sad of goodbye
Tonight it ain't gonna show
Even though that she knows that it ain't not gonna fix it She's putting on her lipstick
She's putting on her lipstickSo they drink and they dance, He talks and she laughs, and for a minute ain't nothing wrongShe's putting on her lipstick
Slipping on a black dress
Turning up the music Saying you can do this Yeah, You can do thisShe's putting on her lipstick, turning up the music
slipping on a black dress, saying you can do this Climbing in the front seat, looking out the window
going through the motions, trying just to let go
All the tears that she cried and the sad of goodbye
Tonight it ain't gonna show
Even though that she knows that it ain't not gonna fix it
She's putting on her lipstickIt's just another friday, staring at herself in the bathroom mirror

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/