Cemetery Walk

Umphrey's McGee

I've got a secret but you're kinda like a polygraph
I'd write it down, it's bigger than a paragraph
You think this job got into my lap, you doI'll borrow lines but I don't intend to give 'em back
Apologize or turn into another trap
Sink or swim it doesn't matter, you turn your backAnd I call for you with no answers, no rule
And I wait too long or write it down wrongI fake a smile but I know that you can see through it
I walk for miles, I thought that it would help my death
So sit me down and cycle me 'round until I listen upIt's not a cage if you're feeling like a resident
I'm so amazed, pretend this was an accident
I've been surrounded all around it and I've had enoughTime won't change you or repay
You've got your angles, let me handle thisI won't bother to recover
(Look at you now)
There'll be others I insist
(Look at you now)Lies can't hide you, they won't try to
(Look at you now)
No denials words exist
(Look at you now)I won't bother to recover
(Look at you now)
There'll be others I insist
(Look at you now)Time won't change you or repay
(Look at you now)
You've got your angles, let me handle this
(Look at you now)And I call for you with no answers, no rule
And I wait too long or write it down wrong
