

Solitude

Days of the New

You are, you are, you are you
You are, you are, you are you
You are, you are, you are you
You are, you are, you are you You are plain insane, inside you live tonight
Afraid the pain will give Don't you want to feel death has done your part?
You chose not to feel, you won a lonely heart
The devil opens his eyes, he breathes right into your face
If you like the smell, you'll really like this place
You'll really like this place, you'll really like this place You'll really like this place
Are you ready to shake?
Don't be afraid of the snake
Will to negotiate You are, you are, you are you
Get used to it, open up
The same don't appeal but it will
You are, you are, you are you Live to live, to die inside
You will anticipate solitude Follow me back home, no other place to go
No need to smile or get stoned, you'll always be alone
The devil opens his eyes, he breathes right into your face
If you like the smell, you'll really like this place
You'll always be alone, always be alone You'll always be alone
Your body stripped down to the bone
No breath to scream out or moan
No freedom, nowhere to run You are, you are, you are you
Get used to it, open up
The same don't appeal but it will
You are, you are, you are you You are, you are, you are you
Get used to it, open up
The same don't appeal but it will
You are, you are, you are you You are, you are, you are you
Solitude, solitude
