Brimstone

Takida

I will come againWatching the winds turning
I said I was lost but I think I'm learning
I'm fineYou can drown me in the water and shoot me down in flames
But I will come again
I got a taste of brimstone and you try to make me leave
I will come againI will come againI want to believe in and I want this to be real, oh, no
I'm still in want of a place but I can fell
I can feel it nowYou can drown me in the water and shoot me down in flames
But I will come again
I got a taste of brimstone and you try to make me leave
I will come againAnxiety and pain used to bring me down
All these skills of late made me now
But now I see what I am, what you are Loving so, I am not aloneWatching the winds turning
I thought I was lost but I'm learning
I'm fine, I'm fine
And you're fine, we're fineYou can drown me in the water and shoot me down in flames
But I will come again
I got a taste of brimstone and you try to make me leave
I will come againYou can drown me in the water and shoot me down in flames
But I will come again
I got a taste of brimstone and you try to make me leave
I will come again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/