

The Words

Out of the Grey

We're hanging in the balance
Caught up in the silence
Somewhere between the feelings
And the meaning of them all I'm trying to be patient
Searching for the perfect face
Just to sort these feelings out
I would try to write them down But the words won't begin to convey
All the love my heart is still learning to say
Though the words chase the meaning away
But my love will stay So I will hold you closer
Try to let the tears flow
When the stream of consciousness
Is running dry again And somewhere in the silence
We will find the balance
Nothing can come between us
We'll build a bridge that we can touch When the words don't begin to convey
All the love my heart is still learning to say
Though the words chase the meaning away
But my love remains Oh, the words don't begin to convey
All the love my heart is still learning to say
Though the words chase the meaning away
But my love, but my love
I'll stay

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>