Another Night in London

DevilDriver

Laying down the law, listen to the hammer
Mouth of madness, watch the wicked gather
Streets of stone, underneath the grey skies
Nights come, they speak of devils in disguiseIt takes people like you, to make people like me
It take people like me to make like youLet's start a riot, another night in London
Let's start a riot, while the night is still youngLet's start a riot, another night in London
Let's start a riot, while the night is still youngWhile the night is still young!Shadows of light, not a glimpse of the sun
Going 'til morning, 'til the battles won
Streets of stone, underneath the grey skies
Nights come, they speak of devils in disguiseIt takes people like you, to make people like me
It take people like me to make like youLet's start a riot, another night in London
Let's start a riot, while the night is still youngLet's start a riot, another night in London
Let's start a riot, while the night is still youngShots fired, the sound of a new generation
No future, no revolutionFor you!
For you!
For me!
No fucking revolution you!Let's start a riot, another night in London
Let's start a riot, while the night is still youngLet's start a riot, another night in London
Let's start a riot, while the night is still youngShots fired, fights!
While the night is still young!
