Guilty Conscience

Carl Smith

Oh does a guilty conscience make you rule the day?
You let another take you from my side
Why'd you wed your new love, are you lying me
Or does a guilty conscience hurt your pride?Does he take you to the same old places?
Does he kiss you like I used to do?
When you see the old familiar faces
Does a guilty conscience bother you?Have you kept my letters and my photograph?
Have they faded like this love we knew?
When you read them over does your heart regret
And does a guilty conscience make you blue?When the day is done and night is falling
And you see that big moon in the sky
When you lay your head upon your pillow
Does a guilty conscience make you cry?
