Beyond The Blinders

Death By Stereo

You take another one in the back
You take another one in the teeth
I've got a veil over my eyes
This fucking country won't let me seeI'll take this knife out of my back
And stab it straight into the heart
Of a country that was built
On lies and murder from the startIt's time to take one for the team boy
You're the no esteem dream toy
And if you bend over far enough
We'll make this country number oneYou take another one in the back
You take another one in the teeth
I've got a veil over my eyes
This fucking country won't let me seeI'll take this knife out of my back
And stab it straight into the heart
Of a country that was built
On lies and murder from the startAnd if you read between the lines
It's not very hard to see
That our very own existence
Isn't really ours to beYou can't take this from me
You can't take this from my heart
It's a will to live
That carries me beyond the blindersIf you look inside me
There is a place you cannot take
It's an independent solitude
A will you cannot break
You'll never break, you'll never breakI'll take this knife out of my back
And stab it straight into the heart
Of a country that was built
On lies and murder from the startAnd if you read between the lines
It's not very hard to see
That our very own existence
Isn't really ours to be
